TRUMP

BIDEN

CIVIL AND HUMAN RIGHTS

The Trump administration has attacked voting rights and supports voter suppression measures, including making it more difficult for people to vote by mail, potentially disenfranchising millions of voters.

Biden has pledged to restore and strengthen the Voting Rights Act, improve voting protections, and prosecute hate crimes against people of color, the LGBTQ community and religious minorities.

Trump's family separation policy resulted in more than 5,400 children being separated from their parents at the border and held in cages.

Biden will strengthen Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals and expand protections for Dreamers and undocumented immigrants.

Trump opposed the passage of the Equality Act, which would provide LGBTQ people with explicit and comprehensive nondiscrimination protections and would fill significant gaps in our federal civil rights laws for women, people of color and anyone protected under the law.

Biden will make enactment of the Equality Act a priority. While Biden was vice president, the United States made historic strides toward LGBTQ equality.

Trump appointees to the U.S. Supreme Court are responsible for controversial 5-4 rulings, including those that threaten public education, religious liberty, civil rights and workers' voice.

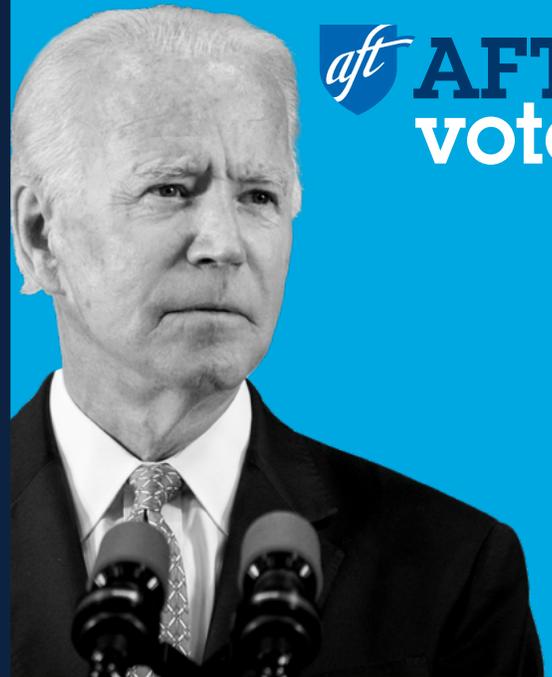

Biden will nominate federal judges who are committed to the rule of law, understand the importance of individual civil rights and civil liberties, and respect foundational precedents.

Trump rolled back Title IX guidance on sexual violence and expanded protections for those accused of sexual harassment, undermining victims' rights, and he has continued to make sexist remarks while in office.

The Biden administration will restore the Title IX guidance for colleges as well as develop stronger enforcement protocols. As a senator, Biden spearheaded the Violence Against Women Act, and he will continue to build on it as president.

TRUMP

CIVIL AND HUMAN RIGHTS

Trump has trafficked in racism and divided our country with his rhetoric and actions, including separating immigrant families at the border, referring to white nationalists as “very fine people,” and deploying the military to tear-gas peaceful protesters.

Trump repeatedly incited violence against protesters, telling supporters to “knock the crap” out of them and saying the Black Lives Matter movement is “looking for trouble” and a BLM protester should be “roughed up.”

The Trump administration denied workers overtime pay they’ve earned and implemented a new rule that leaves millions of workers behind—including 3 million workers of color.

BIDEN

Biden's running mate, Kamala Harris, is the first Black and Asian American vice presidential nominee. His administration will root out systemic racism and invest more than $20 billion to support criminal justice reform.

Biden will make it a priority of the Justice Department to prosecute hate crimes committed against people of color, LGBTQ people and religious group members.

Biden will address wealth disparity in communities of color, including investing in historically Black colleges and universities and providing new capital and opportunities for small businesses that have been structurally excluded for generations.
