

TRUMP

BIDEN

JOBS

Under the Trump administration, nearly 1 million people who work in education have already lost their jobs in this recession, and another 1.4 million, many of whom are school and college support staff, are in danger of losing their jobs.

Biden supports providing state, local and tribal governments with the aid needed to fund educators and support staff, firefighters, healthcare workers and other essential workers.

K-12 EDUCATION

Trump and Education Secretary Betsy DeVos have proposed funding cuts and vouchers for education every year during his administration.

Biden will provide funds for public education, including tripling Title I funding, fully funding the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, expanding the number of community schools, and providing universal pre-K. He opposes private school vouchers.

WORKER RIGHTS

Trump appointees to the National Labor Relations Board have sided against unions, making it easier for employers to silence workers.

Biden will empower the NLRB to fulfill its intended purpose of protecting workers.

COVID-19

Trump's response to the pandemic has been inept, chaotic, contradictory and catastrophic. Instead of protecting public health, he has downplayed the threat, dismissed the advice of our nation's top scientists and public health experts, and rushed to reopen without regard to safety.

Biden has a coordinated, science-based national strategy to combat the pandemic and secure a full economic recovery. He will listen to public health professionals and ensure that all frontline workers, including educators and support staff, have the necessary personal protective equipment.

HEALTHCARE

In the midst of the pandemic, Trump continues to try to abolish the Affordable Care Act, which would put the health coverage of millions of Americans at risk and allow insurance companies to deny coverage for pre-existing medical conditions.

Biden will protect and build on the Affordable Care Act, offer a public option to give every American access to affordable health insurance, and allow Medicare to negotiate lower prices for prescription drugs.
